PEABODY, MA – The cards Gina Hagen designed for Dana-Farber's Holiday Cards & Gifts Collection sold out before December was in full swing. Hagen created an original watercolor for the cards this year. The proceeds from the cards, which featured cheery snowmen at Fenway Park, will go entirely to benefit adult and pediatric patient care and research at Dana-Farber. The collection is available online, and includes exclusive Luca and Danni bracelets with either a butterfly or teddy bear charm; cards designed by local artists, photographers, and Dana-Farber patients; pop-up holiday cards from Lovepop; Audie Sadie's candles; Patriots and Red Sox-themed ChemArt ornaments; and more.

"Dana-Farber Holiday Cards & Gifts allows shoppers to support local businesses while also giving back to a great cause," said David Giagrando, assistant vice president of corporate partnerships at Dana-Farber and the Jimmy Fund. "All of the cards and gifts in our collection raise funds for the Jimmy Fund, which benefits adult and pediatric patient care and cancer research at Dana-Farber."
